Perspective of the Seminar

Due to the pandemic of COVID-19, it is conceived that the modern society is passing through an acute crisis in respect of biological as well as the social and economic life. It is the young generation who are the worst sufferers among others. The death toll is crossing the mile stone from lakhs to million. Considering the severity of the virus all the nations took initiative to protect their young students. All the academic institutions from KG to PG remain closed since last 3-4 months. And it is needless to mention that this infinite lockdown puts a big question mark on the future of the students. Their teaching and learning activities are postponed for indefinite period. Examination schedule is being deferred repeatedly. Sometimes online teaching and learning as well as online exam is being argued. But, we must not forget our rural students' community. They do not have internet, laptop or smart Phone to utilize these online facilities. Therefore, it is the cry of the society to develop such a suitable approach which is inclusive in nature modern and attractive in character so that the marginalized students may be included in the main stream for better future of the region, nation and the global humanity.

Expected Participants:

The faculties, teachers, M.Phil & Ph. D. scholars, the UG & PG Students community, the bureaucrats, the politicians, the social workers & activists are the expected participants of the seminar.
